FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT STEROID TESTING

WHAT ARE ANABOLIC STEROIDS?

Androgenic-anabolic steroids (AAS) contain synthetic androgenic compounds to amplify the expression of male sex hormones. Steroids enhance masculinized traits, resulting in physical side effects like deepened voice, increased facial hair growth, etc. AAS use also stimulates muscle synthesis for better physical performance, which is why steroids are prolific in physically-demanding industries like sports and security monitoring.

WHAT ARE STIMULANTS?

Stimulants are substances which provide temporary mental or physical stimulation. Side effects of stimulant use include increased mental acuity, alertness, motivation, endurance, and heart rate. Some stimulants are legal, such as caffeine, but the use of stimulants in specific industries may not be permitted.

WHAT ARE DIURETICS?

Diuretics encourage excretion of bodily fluids through the urinary tract. They are taken to disguise the use of banned substances by lowering their concentration in the body. However, SteroidConfirm™ testing kits can detect diuretics in specimens with certainty.
